Movie Probe: Protokon, Time Signature, Visiting

Reviewed by Joe Crowe, @revolutionsf, © 2015

Review Date: April 05, 2015

Movie Probe finds movies both short and not short and exposes them to a wide audience learned individuals and nice people such as yourselves. Most are free and watchable online. Click the link in the title and enjoy.

Time Signature

This one is ten minutes of sci-fi with no special effects and more emotional stakes than most full-length flicks.

It's about a lady who meets her favorite singer, and they hit it off and hang out for fully half the 10-minute running time and then BAM SCI-FI PREMISE. When it all hits, it does good things from there.

Visiting

This is the first episode of a series, and it's only one minute. You can spare a minute. If you can't, buddy, you need to relax.

Visiting is about a tiny astronaut and his tiny spaceship that lands in a modern city. The tiny astronaut and the ship are all CG animated, everything else is real. But only the astronaut and ship are totally adorable.

I want one. He is precious and I can not wait to see more. In only a minute, the clip tells everything you need to know about the story and ends with a laugh-out-loud punchline, all with no dialogue.

It will take you longer to read this review than to watch Visiting. So do it now. Watch the short, I mean. You already read this review.
